“ *I think he cherished the time of his son born.
Erich Mark Mena jr.*

He loved his son no matter the consequences. They had good times and bad but they stayed connected. I text him at least one time a month. He told me rosaria I am ready to go, I can't do the things I did before. About a month or maybe more he came to see I really didn't think he was coming but he did. Of course we started talking about Erich and the things he regretted not doing and spending time with him when he was healthy. But I told him remember the good times you did have with him. He took me aside And told me I am sorry I treated you bad. I told him that is under the bridge. The good memories we had were in my heart because just now when his friend told me he left to be with our heavenly Father, I actually cried. To the ones I know my condolences to all and my prayers are in my head about a lot of things. I have to call my son and tell him .
